

Children with Special Health Care Needs

IHP

The individual health plan (IHP), sometimes called an individual health care plan or IHCP, is for a child with a health care need at school. It is developed by the school nurse, parent, and student's doctor. It defines what procedures and medications will be administered and under what conditions and outlines clearly what signs and symptoms a child may exhibit and what those mean.

504

The 504 Plan is a plan developed to ensure that a child who has a disability identified under the law and is attending an elementary or secondary educational institution receives accommodations that will ensure their academic success and access to the learning environment. There are subtle but important differences.

- Not all students who have disabilities require specialized instruction. For students with disabilities who do require specialized instruction, the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA) controls the procedural requirements, and an IEP is developed. The IDEA process is more involved than that of Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act and requires documentation of measurable growth.
- For students with disabilities who do not require specialized instruction but need the assurance that they will receive equal access to public education and services, a document is created to outline their specific accessibility requirements. Students with 504 Plans do not require specialized instruction, but, like the IEP, a 504 Plan should be updated annually to ensure that the student is receiving the most effective accommodations for his/her specific circumstances.

Important definitions

Children with Disabilities: Physical or mental impairment that substantially limits a major life activity, has a record of such an impairment, or is regarded as having such an impairment.

Disability: A legal term and conclusion made by the 504 team, based on how the child is currently functioning.

Impairment: A medical or behavioral health, or educational diagnosis.
